THE MYSORE ECONOMIC CONFERENCE.

SERICULTURE.

Information reached the Chairman of the Agricultural Committee about the prevalence of some disease among silk-worms in the Kunigal Taluk of the Tumkur District in May 1912, and Mr. E. Jackson, Superintendent, Tata's Silk Farm, was requested to proceed to Kunigal to investigate into the matter. The following abstract of the report of Mr. Jackson is published for general information :—

The people (of Nittur-Kempanahalli, a village nine miles from Kunigal) brought out the worms in two or three different stages for me to examine. I expected to see Pebrine, the disease that is doing so much damage at Closepét and Channapatna. But I soon found out that it was not Pebrine but Muscardine.

The disease results from the presence of a minute spore which settles in the silk worm and in a sense takes root there eating its way into the skin and finally kills its victim. It is caused by uncleanness, over-heated rooms, over-crowding of worms in the trays, diseased mulberry, etc., etc. I asked the people to show me where they reared the worms. I found the rooms had no ventilation and were very hot. I could not stop in the place myself and got out of the room as quickly as possible. I also found there were too many worms in the tray and advised the people to take a few off and put them in another tray.

I then asked them to show me their mulberry gardens and there I found that the mulberry was diseased.

The sickness in the worms is not of the worst kind and can be avoided.

The disease of Muscardine which the worms are suffering from in Nittur-Kempanahalli, is caused by giving the worms diseased mulberry leaf, over-crowding and keeping them in rooms with no air and ventilation. We advised the people what they should do, especially with the mulberry.
